
Π
M
E

Pennsylvania Phi
Induction Ceremony
April 24, 2004

~~~~~

Spring Meeting of the Harrisburg Chapter of the American Statistical Association

---

|                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 4:00 pm - 4:50 pm                  | Presentation by Dr. Winston Richards. Title: Elevated Infant Death Rates in Dauphin County: A Product of Chance                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 5:00 pm - 5:50 pm                  | Presentation by Dr. Clifford Wagner. Title: Learning About Probability Distributions Via Interactive Software                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 6:00 pm                            | Buffet Dinner and Induction Ceremony                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Welcome and Recognition of Faculty | Dr. Thang Bui, Department ChairMathematical and Computer Science Departments                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Introduction to Program            | Dr. Winston Richards, Club AdvisorMath Integration Club & PA PhiAssociate Professor of Mathematics & Statistics                                                                                                                                                              |
| Presentation of Club Presidents    | Michelle Lester, PA Phi PresidentPenn State Harrisburg (Math Major)Kristi Brandt, PA Phi SecretaryPenn State Harrisburg (Math Major)Jonathan Steinkirchner, Integration PresidentPenn State Harrisburg (Math Major)                                      |
| Guest Speaker                      | Nabila Audi, B.S. ASA, MAAA, Senior Actuary for Capital Blue Cross. Title: My life as an actuary.                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Inductees                          | Professor Omid Ansary, Nabila Audi, Kristi Brandt, Michelle Lester, Jonathan Steinkirchner, Yi Chen, Leslie McDowell, Amanda Bressler, Douglas R. Hains, Erik Musselman, Robert Grigsby, William A. Loy, Brian A. Kopp, Aneecia Payne, Bojan Zorkic                                  |
| Ceremony of Initiation             | 1) Statement of purpose, nature, organization and history2) Taking of the pledge by the candidates3) Signing of the permanent chapter roll by each candidate4) Presentation of certificates5) Explanation of insignia, etc.6) Exhortation and address of welcome |
| Thank you and Closing Remarks      | Dr. Jefferson HartzlerAssociate Professor Mathematics                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

---